Pet rescue saga game to play

Final Pet Rescue Saga Guide: How to save more pets, manage your boosters better, and win the levels faster! The pet rescue saga is easily just as addictive as [Candy Crush]( and has the ability to make a goal of your life to save all cute pets from animal kidnappers. If it sounds like an addiction you know, you've come to the right place! here are the best tips, tricks, cheats I've found when it comes to not only hitting levels in the pet rescue saga, but destroying them! 1. Take care of your pets first at most levels, your number one goal should be to save your pets. This means paying attention to where they are on the board and made your main goal to move them as fast as you can. Avoid them standing on individual colored blocks that cannot be paired with anything around it. To do that, you'll need to think of a step or two ahead. Look at which blocks they're standing on and made every attempt to make sure they're standing on a pile that can be quickly cultivated when you get to the bottom to release them. The fewer blocks you have, the harder it gets, so plan it early on. 2. Plan your moves depending on it goes a little with one step but can be applied to any level, pets present or not. Planning moves not only help you clear levels faster, it also increases your overall score. I found that at most levels, working from the bottom up is the best bet. Notice what's on top and clear contrasting colors at the bottom. This way, these top blocks have as much chance of getting down on colors as you can then easily clean. 3. What accelerators to buy my favorite accelerators are pop color block buster. I only ever actually paid for Buster Block as I find myself getting free color pops quite often, especially if I come back after not playing for a few days. The tip for using any of them is to wait until you really need them. If you're planning some moves in advance, you need to know if you're going to need them or not. In my experience, wait for the speeder to use until it is near the end of the level and you have no other choice to clean a particularly problematic color or single block. Sometimes it can make a difference between level clearing or not. Don't worry about clearing every block at most levels, you don't have to clean every block, this is especially true at levels involving pets. Worry about cleaning the lines with pets in it when you get towards the end. If you need to use boosters or rockets to clear an entire row to reach a pet. I would do it before worrying about one or double row of blocks with nothing else in it. The score is minimal and the amount you get for saving a pet is worth a lot more and may actually make the difference between keeping enough pets before you run out of moves. 5. Giving and receiving a free life Pay attention to how many lives they have before they get more from her friends. They'll stay in your inbox as long as you give But if you get them when you have a full life, it doesn't add more and you can't have them back or redeem them later. I also always ask for a life just when I start playing. That way, I can have some life while I'm playing and then when I'm over, I've got a few more to go around before I'm really over. And then when I do, I'll send another request so the next time I play, I have some extra life built. 6. Pay attention to destinations at certain levels, the goals you need to meet can be a bit tricky. Especially paying attention to the requirements of the score. If you keep enough pets but don't meet the score requirements, you don't pass. It sucks especially if you use an accelerator you paid for to get through the level. If you're nowhere near the required grade or pets needed to get through, don't waste accelerators. It's better to try your luck again and start the level over again. 7. Don't let your pets get kidnapped if your pets get too high on the top of the screen, if they go down they are taken by the pet snatchers. Notice when the pet panics and shakes. That means they're too close and risk kidnapping. You can't get the pet back so the total amount of purposeable pets just dropped. If for some reason you can't fit enough blocks to get the required amount down, you won't pass the level and you lose lives. You can always pay to get the pets back but if you're careful not to lose them by allowing them to get to the top of the screen, that's rarely a problem. I recommend using a rocket when you have one available if a pet comes dangerously close to the top of the screen. 8. Use bombs and accelerators wisely and have already discussed bombs and accelerating a little in the above sections but refers to them specifically, save them only when you need them. For most levels, it's usually towards the end when color pairings get harder to do. One rocket or bomb can make the difference between saving the pet you need to move, or having to start the level over. If you don't need an ace or you think you can get away with not using it right at that moment, wait. 9. Having trouble with level? Try it on the computer instead! Most King games don't seem to sync properly with actual Facebook versions, and the pet rescue saga is included. I also found that going through difficult levels seems to hell be a lot easier on the PC version than they do on iPhone or iPad versions. I'm not sure why, but that's always been the case. When I'm having trouble with level for days on edge, I jump on the computer and let it try. Never fail, I usually pass it on in a few tries. Not to mention, the Facebook version always gives me a lot of free shit the iOS version never offers. So, added bonus! 10. Your Tips and Tricks! Colin Scott: If you just need a break from your Netflix turn or you're looking for something the whole family can do together at the end of a long, stressful day, board games, puzzles, and other internal games you can play at home are pretty much mandatory. A little friendly competition never hurts, does it? And they're great for a rainy day, too. There are tons of board games on the market that are fun for adults and the whole family, but they are not always exactly stylish. If you are looking for games you should not stash in the closet, these games are entertaining to play as they are beautiful. Some are reasonable, some are on the luxury side, but there's one thing in common: you won't want to put them back in the box, or B. At least, you won't mind keeping the box on display.
